LEADERS OUTLINE PROGRAMME FOR TARIFF AND TAXES

Secretary Mellon in Conference With Penrose and Fordney.

HARDING VIEW SOUGHT

Anti-Dumping Law and Valuation at American Port Provided For.

BONUS BILL CONSIDERED

Tariff Revision to Be Made on Basis of Protection Rather Than Revenue.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 14.

A tentative programme for revision of the tariff and revenue laws, agreed on today by Republicans of the Senate Finance Committee and Ways and Means Committee of the House and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, is to be placed before President Harding tomorrow and with his approval will be entered upon at once.

Details of the tariff and tax programme were not announced today. Senator Penrose and Representative Fordney, chairman respectively of the Finance Committee and the Ways and Means Committee, were commissioned to wait upon the President and present the recommendations. Mr. Fordney is to arrange the conference.

Two decisions regarding legislation affecting tariff schedules were announced as the result of the conference, irrespective of the programme to be placed before President Harding. An anti-dumping law designed to prevent marketing in America of European products at prices lower than they are sold abroad will be put through as soon as Congress meets. Another bill is to be passed speedily providing that the collection of all duties under the present Underwood tariff law shall be on the basis of their value at the American port of entry instead of on the basis of their value abroad.

President's Approval Sought.

It is understood that President Harding is willing to have these measures passed at once, since they are not included in the subjects to be discussed with him tomorrow.

It is desired, however, to have the approval of the President before announcing, first, whether it is to be an emergency tariff; second, whether tariff or revenue revision shall be first in order, and, third, to determine as far as possible the President's views as to the kind of taxes to be substituted for the excess profits taxes, which, it is believed, are to be repealed as the first step in revision of the revenue laws. Senator Penrose was made spokesman

HUGHES SUGGESTS LATIN ARBITRATION

Foreshadows Principle of Settling Disputes in South-Central Countries.

TALKS TO THEIR ENVOYS

"We Have and Will Have No Ulterior Purposes," He Tells Republics.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 14.

The first intimation of a general policy in dealing with Latin America was given here today by Secretary Hughes in an address to the visiting special missions from Central and South America which attended the inauguration. The occasion was a luncheon given by Director General Rowe of the Pan American Union.

While Mr. Hughes's address was brief, it was pointed and contained a suggestion which has been interpreted as offering the possibility of the establishment of the principle of the settlement by arbitration of all disputes in which Latin American countries may become engaged among themselves.

The suggestion of Mr. Hughes is in line with the attitude taken by the State Department in the dispute between Panama and Costa Rica. In that dispute the United States first made it clear that the problem is one with which America has to deal, rather than the League of Nations, and that since an arbitral award has been given it must be lived up to.

Mr. Hughes's address was also significant in that he stated in the most positive manner that which all Americans realize, but which apparently needs reiteration to convince certain agencies in South America. Mr. Hughes said: "We have and will have no ulterior purposes with respect to any of the republics of Latin America."

In connection with the suggestion relative to the settlement of disputes among Latin American countries by arbitration Mr. Hughes made the significant statement:

"We cannot fail to realize that we have no ulterior security nor peace, neither stability nor progress, unless reason rules and justice is assured."

CONGRESS TO MEET IN EXTRA SESSION APRIL 11

Senate Leaders Are Pleased Over Date Selected.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—April 11 was selected today as the date for the special session of the Sixty-seventh Congress, the first to be held under President Harding's Administration. The announcement was received with general satisfaction by Senate leaders, most of whom said they preferred that date to April 4, because of the additional week it gave to arrange plans for the session. Senator Lodge (Mass.) notified the Senate of the President's decision after he and Senator Underwood (Ala.), minority leader, had returned from the White House. They had gone to the President with a message from the Senate that it stood ready to adjourn sine die unless there was need for it to remain in session to receive Executive messages or act upon additional appointments to Government offices.

The President, however, requested the Senate to meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow when he said he expected to submit names of nominees for "important offices" vacated by resignations of Democratic appointees.

It was said tonight that sine die adjournment probably would be taken late today.

R. A. C. SMITH MAY HEAD U. S. SHIPPING BOARD

President Has Several Conferences on Appointments.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 14.

President Harding is having difficulty in selecting the members of the Shipping Board, and much of his time today in a long series of conferences had to do with these posts. It was the understanding that he wished to complete the slate in order to submit it to the Senate tomorrow, but there was no specific information available at the White House tonight on what had been accomplished.

The report was circulated that James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, had been asked to accept the chairmanship of the board. This was strengthened soon afterward by Mr. Farrell's appearance at the White House for an hour's conference with the President. When Mr. Farrell left, however, he said the discussion related to general business conditions, but he added that no Federal job had been offered to him and that he was not seeking any.

Frank C. Munson, head of the Munson line of steamships, also saw President Harding about the Shipping Board appointments. His name also has been mentioned as the possible chairman, but he denied that the post had been offered to him, adding that even if it were he could not accept. The name of R. A. C. Smith, formerly Dock Commissioner of New York, seemed uppermost in the discussion tonight about the chairmanship.

ROADS CAN SEIZE COAL.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Pennsylvania court decrees, holding in effect that a railroad having a contract with coal companies for fuel may commandeer coal in transit for its own use, will stand as a result of the refusal today of the Supreme Court to review them. The Phoenix Portland Cement Company of Nazareth, Pa., appealed from an adverse decision in its suit against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad growing out of its seizure of forty-four carloads of fuel.

SECRETARY DENBY TO CUBA.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary of the Navy Denby will leave Washington Sunday for Guantanamo, Cuba, where he will witness target practice and winter battle manoeuvres of the Atlantic fleet.

ONLY 2 OF HARDING APPOINTEES BARRED

Senate Makes Clean Sweep of Nominations Excepting Those of Esch and Madison.

MORE TO COME TO-DAY

Request From President Causes Delay in Adjournment—Army List Goes Through.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 14.

With the exception of two appointments the Senate made a clean sweep today in confirming all nominations thus far submitted by President Harding. The two were those of former Representative Esch (Wis.), to be member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, objected to by Senator La Follette, and Charles C. Madison, to be United States District Attorney for the western district of Missouri.

Senator Spencer is hostile to the Madison appointment and insists that he will defeat it if possible. He saw the President today about it and tried to have the nomination withdrawn, but was not successful. Madison is said to have the support of Attorney-General Daugherty, and was recommended by E. Mont Kelly of Kansas, Daugherty's lieutenant in the pre-convention campaign for Harding. The nomination was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Because of a long fight made in executive session today by Senator Lodge against confirmation of nearly 4,000 army officers nominated under provisions of the army reorganization act and for the further reason that the President has some further nominations to submit to-morrow the adjournment of the special session went over another day.

It is said that nominations of members of the Shipping Board are expected to-morrow with some other nominations in sight.

Nominations confirmed to-day included

ed the long list of army nominations, about fifty promotions in the Coast Guard Service, fifteen routine promotions in the Marine Corps and the following officials in other executive departments: Eugene Meyer, Jr., New York, to be Director of the War Finance Corporation; Jonathan M. Wainwright, New York, to be Assistant Secretary of War; Eliot Wadsworth, Massachusetts, to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Cuno H. Rudolph and James F. Oyster, to be Commissioners for the District of Columbia; Lieut. Col. Gustave Luken, to be member of the Mississippi River Commission; and W. H. Joyce of Los Angeles to be a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board.

After the session confirming these nominations Senator Lodge and Senator Underwood called on the President in the hope of being able to report that he had no further business for them and that they could finally adjourn the special session. On their return, however, they announced that President Harding had asked them to wait another day, as he has some further nominations to submit.

It was arranged that the Senate meet an hour earlier to-morrow so that if possible Senators who have bought railroad tickets for home may be able to use them after they have attended what they hope is the final session before Congress is called in extra session.
